Coaching Philosophy
I have been involved with this game as a player and coach my entire life. I have learned many life lessons from the experiences I have had not only as a player but a coach as well. I believe it is important to develop individual players as well as team players. I want each player that I have a chance to work with to remember not only what they learn on the field but off the field as well. Teaching by example is key to the success of a player. I believe in respecting the game and all that is involved with it. Having been a player myself, I know and understand the emotions, struggles and triumphs that follow the game. I expect commitment and effort. It is my goal to get this team to the highest level of play possible. We will focus on various tournaments as well as league play to accomplish this goal. I am committed to this team and expect the same from the players on this team. I respect the players and expect the same in return. I look forward to a fun and successful season with this team. I have always believed in an open door policy as a way to work out any issues with players or parents. I look forward to working with the players of this team and getting to know their families.
