	Coaching Philosophy
I am a coach because I love the work. I have been fortunate in my ability to create effective and fun learning environments in which my players can thrive and realize their full potential within the structure of fundamental skill curriculum, measured development, and competition. Along the developmental trajectory I expect my players to learn accountability, responsibility, and perseverance. I want them to love this sport as much as I do, and use it as a springboard to attain important life goals.
