	Coaching Philosophy
I want every player on my team to have fun when he plays, and I believe the best way to achieve that is to work hard before ever stepping on the pitch. That way, the team can come out successful and each player can be satisfied with his performance. I look for players who work hard and put in the time to become successful. I work to develop each player as an individual and as an integral part of the team. We strive to play a clean, technical game. We continue to improve as a team as we challenge our players' skills and abilities. I have a deep knowledge of the game from many years of playing experience, and have seen great success since beginning my coaching career with this team in 2015, with an overall 20-6-3 record and a division advancement.
