	Coaching Philosophy

The player comes first, and then the team. Our responsibility as coaches is to help each player become tactically and technically proficient in the whole game of soccer. We will guide each player to change their mind set to work hard every day, strive to improve individually, and finally help the team play at the highest level. We believe that individual home practice, and team practice is where you learn the skills necessary to play the game. If you have not done it in practice, then it will be too late to know what to do in the game. We will coach teamwork, communication, and other life skills that can be learned from a team sport. Our coaching staff is excited and looks forward to working with your player to help them grow.
